Floodgates Opened By Reds In Attempt To Snarl U.N. Push

2 Children, 6 Adults Hurt In Mishaps

East Liverpool And Irondale Boys Are Victims Of Traffic

The East Liverpool district counted eight hurt in week end traffic mishaps, one of the worst in weeks, although there were no fatalities. At least four were hurt seriously, however.

Two children—an East Liverpool boy and one from Irondale—were among the injured, which included three women and three men.

One was an elderly pedestrian hit by a car; the youngsters were struck by autos; a Canton couple was hurt as their car hit a truck and an Akron man was injured severely. An Irondale man got off with a sprain in his mishap.

City Has 5 Mishaps; Boy, 9, Injured By Auto

A 9-year-old youngster was the only casualty in a series of five East Liverpool week-end traffic mishaps, police reported.

Robert Ervin Lutton III, son of Robert Lutton of Dewey Ave. Ext., was treated at City Hospital Saturday afternoon for concussion and a contusion of the spine suffered when hit about 4:30 by a car at Dresden Ave. and West Ninth St.

Richard W. Wiley, 26, of Steubenville R. D. 4, the driver, told police the boy darted into the path of his car from behind a bus.

In another mishap, an auto owned by Paul D. Taylor of Sherwood drifted from a parking place on Lincoln Ave. Saturday at 6:30 p. m. and hit the corner of a house at 917 Lincoln Ave., owned by E. W. Bookman, police said. Mr. Taylor told officers the car apparently slipped out of gear.

The other three minor crashes involved these cars.

Claude M. Tarr, 48, of Marietta, and Harry Back, 25, of 314 Garfield St., today at 7:40 a. m. at West Sixth and Jackson Sts.;

William E. Bryan, 30, of Chester R. D. 1, and W. E. McCoy, 79, of 418 Summit Lane, Sunday at 7:28 p. m. on Broadway, and

David F. Woessner, 17, of 822 Bradshaw Ave., and Cecil K. Rutter, 33, of 1511 Holliday St. Sunday at 12:40 p. m. on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Road."

Irondale Youngster Suffers Fractured Skull

A 6-year-old Irondale youngster is reported in "fair" condition at City Hospital today with a fractured skull received Sunday afternoon about 2:45 when hit by a car near the Jefferson-McCullough Children's Home at Yellow Creek.

The State Highway Patrol at Wintersville said William M. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Williard Davis, was struck by a car driven by Frank M. Rivelle, 18, of 1311 Main St., Wellsville.

The driver told the patrol the youngster ran into his car after alighting from a bus.

District Woman Hit By Car Is 'Critical'

A 62-year-old Y. & O. Road woman was injured seriously Saturday night about 9 when struck by an auto while walking on the highway near her home.

Mrs. Mary Thompson, wife of Charles Thompson, is in 'critical' condition at City Hospital with a laceration at the base of the skull and possible fracture of right ankle.

The State Highway Patrol said the car was driven by Donald Sutherin, 17, of East Palestine. The mishap occurred a mile below Rock Camp on the Y. & O. Road.

Patrolmen said Mrs. Thompson was walking south on the left side of the highway. The youth was reported traveling in the same direction.

Jean Heiney, 14, of Wellsville was a passenger in the auto.

Canton Couple Hurt As Car Rips Gas Truck

A Canton man and wife were injured seriously Saturday at 2 p. m. when their auto plowed into the rear of a tank truck on Route 30, about a mile north of the city limits.

Walter Tull, 65, and his wife, Anna, 58, are in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with facial cuts and fractured legs.

The State Highway Patrol said their 1941 sedan apparently went out of control and crashed into the side of the Coastal Lines tank truck, which was traveling in the opposite direction.

The force of the impact tore one set of rear dual wheels from the huge trailer. The truck was

More Arrests Promised

4 Spies Advance Red Atom Plan At Least 18 Months

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Russia's atomic weapons program was shoved ahead at least 18 months by a trio of confessed spies—one an American—and an H-bomb scientist who reportedly fled to the Soviet Union. That is the Senate-House atomic energy committee's evaluation of espionage damage by the four.

To one of them, convicted British atomic spy Klaus Fuchs, the committee assigned the kingpin role of deadliest betrayer in all history.

A committee report issued last night said, however, that this country's atomic espionage defenses apparently have not been pierced since mid-1946. British security has been breached since then as well as before, the committee added.

In New York, U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol said last night his office is starting a whole new series of arrests for espionage. Appearing on a radio program, Mr. Saypol said, "We have gotten sufficient information so that we are embarking on a series of prosecutions to stamp out this vice."

It was learned, meanwhile, that F. B. I. Chief J. Edgar Hoover has suggested to Congress that his agency not be called upon to investigate persons in the atomic field who have "no access to really restricted material as such".

In its espionage report, the atomic energy committee dealt at length with the case of Dr. Fuchs, German-born British scientist who now is serving a 14-year jail term in England for confessed passing of atom secrets to Russia.

"It is hardly an exaggeration," the report declared, "to say that Fuchs has influenced the safety of more people and accomplished more damage than any other spy not only in the history of the United States but in the history of nations."

Behind Dr. Fuchs as the No. 1 atomic spy, the committee rated native Italian Bruno Pontecorvo, who last Fall disappeared behind Russia's iron curtain. At the time he was on vacation in Europe from his key post at a top-secret British atomic research station.

"His more recent studies," the committee said, "included work upon tritium, a substance intimately related to the hydrogen bomb."

The other two who helped advance Russia's atomic program 18 months or more were listed by the committee as Dr. Allan Nunn May, British scientist who was convicted in the Canadian spy expose of 1946, and American-born David Greenglass, sentenced in New York last Friday to 15 years in jail.

All of the big four — Fuchs, Pontecorvo, May and Greenglass—had access to atomic secrets at one time or another in the United States. All but Greenglass also had access in Great Britain or Canada.

Mass Rites Planned For 19 Air Dead

Funeral Plane Falls, Burns On Mountain Top In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April (AP)—Medical teams worked today to complete final identification of eight of 19 officers and men who died yesterday in the fiery crash of an Air Force plane on a mountain top near here.

Two other officers survived the mishap.

The C-47 transport, en route here from Godman Air Force base in Kentucky, was bringing an honor guard to the funeral of a fellow airman when it struck a tall locust tree and plunged to earth eight miles north of Charleston.

The names of the dead were released by the Air Force last night, but because most of the bodies were charred beyond recognition, a check of dental records and other clues are being used to complete identifications.

Meanwhile, tentative plans are under way for mass funeral services for the dead, all from the Charleston area.

A military spokesman said such rites may be held in Municipal Auditorium or in the National Guard hangar at Kanawha airport.

Also en route here today is an inspection team from the San Bernadino (Calif.) Air Base, headquarters for the service's flying safety personnel.

The bodies lay today at seven Charleston area funeral homes.

Aboard the plane, which apparently crashed at it banked—its landing gear down and locked—into the final leg of its approach to the Kanawha airport were nine enlisted men and 12 officers.

They represented an honor guard for the funeral of Major Woodford W. Sutherland. The 34-year-old major from near-by St. Albans, W. Va., who lost his life last Thursday in a ground collision of two planes at Elgin Field, Fla.

Hits Letdown In Public Support Of Defense Program

'Situation Grows Worse,' Marshall Warns America

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall spoke out today against what he called a letdown in public support of the defense program in the face of a worsening world situation.

"Every indication we have from abroad is of increasing build-up," General Marshall warned. "It has been noticeable particularly in the satellite countries. The situation not only hasn't changed in the matter of being less tense, it is really more tense than before."

The best this country can hope for, he declared, is a period of tension rather than an all-out world war. And, he added: "What we are thinking about is possibly a 10-year tension—but the tension has relaxed here in six weeks."

General Marshall expressed these views in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U.S. News and World Report, during which he reiterated again his call for enactment of a universal military training program. Indications are that the House, voting later this week, will do no more than set up a commission to recommend machinery for such a program.

The general said he could see no hope for any early letup in the rearmament program, because even if the West and Russia came to terms "we would be perfect fools to relax our military

RAPID REARMING of Russia's satellites was re-emphasized today by General George C. Marshall as he warned of a worsening world situation. The figures on the map show the approximate military manpower of the Red bloc as compiled from reports to the State Department. The border of Yugoslavia, a renegade from the solid Communist front, is under constant harassment, giving rise to speculation that Stalin might try soon to overrun it.

Dam's Water Roars Down Upon Troops

Little Damage Seen; Enemy Stalls U.N. Drive At One Point

TOKYO, April 9 (AP)—Chinese Communists opened the floodgates of the massive Hwachon reservoir dam in central Korea today and sent thousands of tons of water rushing down on Allied-held ground.

But the Pukhan River rose no more than four and a half feet and then began to recede and there is no danger to United Nations forces.

Nearly all Allied elements have moved above the expected high-water mark.

A U.S. Eighth Army engineer said:

"There will be no real strain. They can't do any worse without blowing the dam and that's a dam that will take a lot of blowing."

The Hwachon reservoir, about seven miles north of the 38th Parallel, is the main point of the stoutest Red resistance in North Korea in several weeks. In bitter fighting south of the reservoir today, the Reds slowed or stopped Allied advances at several points.

The dam is 275 feet high. The Reds opened 10 of its 18 floodgates. Six gates were reported inoperable.

The Reds may have had two purposes in loosing their man-made flood:

▶First, to cut the Chunchon-Hwachon highway, a main Allied supply artery.

▶Second, to pave the way for a counter-offensive down the Chunchon-Wonju highway.

Although fighting near the reservoir has been severe, Associated Press Correspondent Leif Erickson at U.S. Eighth Army headquarters said there is no indication the Reds have started a mass drive.

An estimated Communist regiment was sighted Sunday afternoon between the river and advancing Allied soldiers. Aerial photographs clearly showed the floodgates closed them.

The Chinese apparently opened the floodgates and pulled out sometime after dark.

U.N. troops of four nations are deployed around Chunchon. Some forward elements may be temporarily cut off by the rising water. The high water may extend as far down the Pukhan River as Seoul, some 55 air miles southwest.

The reservoir is shaped like an inverted "T" with a base and stem each 15 miles long. The city of Hwachon is on its western tip.

Chorwon, an important Red base 17 miles north of the parallel of the western front, was brought under American artillery fire today.

There was little fighting on other fronts.

Lieutenant General Matthew B. Ridgway warned that there is no end of the Korean war in sight unless it is called off in diplomatic negotiations. And he said he knows of no such negotiations.

"As far as the Communist leaders are concerned, this is an all-out, life-and-death struggle," he declared.

Chief Issues Warning After Rash Of Fires

Firemen Busy With 7 Runs Saturday To Brush, Grass Blazes

Fire Chief Charles Bryan today issued a warning about starting fires anytime after the department answered seven such alarms Saturday in six hours.

A city ordinance prohibits brush or trash fires outdoors anytime even if started in containers, the chief said. Violators are subject to fines and are responsible for any damage the fires may cause, he added.

The first alarm Saturday at 10:17 a. m. sent firemen to Michigan Ave. near the Water Works Pump Station.

North Side firemen, filling in at Central Station on a downtown alarm, were sent to Canton St. at 11:45 a. m.

In the afternoon, firemen were called to Manor Lane at 2:12; 1845 Lisbon St. at 2:50, North Surrey Road in Fisher Park at 2:52 p. m., 1321 Fairmont St. at 3:17, and from there to another alarm at 2504 St. Clair Ave.

The Pleasant Heights pumper was delayed getting back in service after the Lisbon St. call because the truck stuck in pump gear, firemen said.

The department spent over three hours quelling the blazes, they reported. Two other fires were extinguished Friday afternoon.

In addition, two other alarms were answered.

Central firemen were called to the third floor of the adjoining City Market building at 11:42 a. m. when a waste basket ignited in the apartment of Charles Blazer.

Clark Blazer, 17 son of Mr. and Mrs. Blazer, had his feet scorched slightly when he smothered the flames with blankets.

The other call at 3:55 p. m. was where a parked tractor-trailer to Webber St. and St. Clair Ave. was leaking gasoline.

4 Applicants Receive Absentee Ballots

Absentee ballots for the May 8 primaries became available today and the County Election Board issued four to early bird applicants.

Two absentees voted in person at the board's office in City Hall. The other two sets of ballots went out by mail. The ballots are available for persons who will be outside Columbiana county and at least 10 miles from their home precints on Election Day.

Meanwhile, the board approved a printer's proof today on a ballot for a vote on a 1-mill levy for extra policemen at Wellsville. Wilson-Simms Printers of Market St., the contractor, will begin printing ballots Tuesday, the board said.

Big Fund Slash Faces Test On Floor Of House

Hot Fight Expected In Move To Restore Money For 'Voice'

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The House appropriations committee submitted to a House test today a record 43 per cent budget cut on a major bill.

The House laid aside its draft-universal military training bill to take up the appropriation measure, which carries $478,586,368 to finance some non-military defense agencies for the remaining months of the present fiscal year, which will end June 30.

That amount is $364,877,211 less than President Truman had requested. The major slashes were made in funds for the Voice of America and the Civil Defense Administration.

The only fight in sight is over the cut in the 'Voice", the State Department program for broadcasting the story of America to counteract Russian Propaganda.

Representative Flood (D) of Pennsylvania opposed the big "Voice" cut within the appropriations committee and is expected to lead the fight on the House floor to restore all or part of the reduction. His chances of succeeding appear slim.

The committee cut the "Voice" budget from $97,500,000 requested by the President to $9,533,939, eliminating all funds for construction of 13 new broadcasting outlets. It rebuked the "Voice" for "mismanagement and poor planning" and said it is disappointed with the program's results to date.

No concerted move is in sight to restore any of the reduction made by the committee in funds for the Civil Defense Administration. The President asked $403,000,000 for this agency and the committee trimmed it to $186,750,000.

Job 'Peddling' Probe Opens In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., April 9 (AP)—A Senate investigating committee opened public hearing today into charges that Mississippi pro-Truman Democrats peddled federal jobs for $300 each.

Senator Clyde Hoey (D) of North Carolina, chairman of the Senate expenditures sub-committee, said that so far as he knows, this is the first congressional inquiry into state-wide distribution of patronage. He said the hearings will be conducted "without regard to persons or political parties".

"The purpose of the investigation is to get at the truth and not smear anybody or vindicate anybody," Mr. Hoey declared. "We will make the investigation and if we believe that there may be violations, then we will give the transcript of the hearing to the Justice Department."

Car Hits Plane, Canoe's Taken; It's Springtime!

We're off again on the springtime silly season, that time of improbable happenings that seems to arrive annually with the crocus and the violet.

East Liverpool chalked up a pair of pixilated peccadillos Saturday—a hit-skip crash between an airplane and an auto and a case of dry land piracy.

James C. Buckley of Mulberry St. told surprised police Saturday that his seaplane was hit by a car. Then he explained that the plane was beached on the wharf ramp at the foot of Broadway. It was hit by a car that wandered off the River Road late Friday night, police said.

A watchman at the Broadway railroad crossing reported the crash to Mr. Buckley and gave him the license number of the offending car, issued to a Henry Ave. man.

A case of "canoe thievery was reported by James S. Hilbert, 300 Thompson Ave. He told police the canoe, garishly painted in blue, white, red and yellow, was taken from his garage sometime Saturday night.

Midland To Picnic June 20 At Chester

Midland's annual Community picnic will be held at Rock Springs Park in Chester, Wednesday, June 20, Truman E. Bodfong, secretary of the Board of Trade, sponsor, announced.

The picnic was held last year at Idora Park in Youngstown.

Chairman of the committee is William Verzella, assisted by Victor Liberatore, David Schwerha, Howard J. Crichton and William A. Robertson.

Adults and children will be taken to the picnic site in chartered busses. Business places will close at noon.

Tickets for rides at the park will be placed on sale in the near future in all business places. They will be honored until 6 p. m. Free rides for the kiddies will be in effect until 4 p. m.

The board will serve free coffee for the evening meal.

The committee will meet soon to arrange games and contests for the younger set.

'Great Danger' Stirs Warning By Rayburn

Says Russians Build Up Military Might 'In Lots Of Places'

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Speaker Rayburn said today "we are in terrible danger" because the Russians are building up concentrations "here and there and everywhere".

Mr. Rayburn, Texas Democrat, told White House reporters following a conference with President Truman that the Russians are building up troop concentrations "in lots of places".

He added: "Just where this is being done is a little beyond my field, but I have it on good authority, the best authority."

Last week, Mr. Rayburn came out of a White House conference and said not all the troops gathering in Manchuria are Chinese Communists.

He also said then that the United States was threatened by "a terrible danger" which might bring on another world war.

Last week's statements were made on the House floor as it began debate on the controversial draft-universal military training bill.

At the White House today, a reporter told Mr. Rayburn that some people seemed to think he made last week's statement in an effort simply to pass the draft-U.M.T. bill.

Mr. Rayburn replied: "That's a mighty low estimate to put on something I said. That statement was meant in the best interest of the United States."

April Showers Bring Half-Inch Precipitation

Those April showers Sunday made the grass greener but they brought half an inch of chilly rain to the East Liverpool district.

Dam 8 said the rain started about 4:45 a. m. with a light drizzle, then turned heavy after 10 a. m., falling intermittently until 10:15 last night. Scattered light showers were expected today.

The rain caused no appreciable rise in the Ohio River.

4,300 Are Routed From Homes By Minnesota Flood

By The Associated Press

Some 4,300 persons fled their flood-struck homes in a Minnesota town Sunday as the swollen Minnesota River swamped streets.

With temperatures down near freezing, all but 500 North Mankato residents left their homes under orders of local officials. Most were cared for in Mankato, south of the suburb.

Meanwhile, the spring thaw sent the Red River rising. A flood warning was posted at Fargo, N. D., and Moorhead, Minn., lying on either side of the river. The river is expected to crest at 26 or 27 feet today.

Elsewhere in Minnesota, the community of Marshall counted its losses as the Redwood River ebbed. Damage was estimated at one million dollars.

In Alabama, Iowa and South Dakota, flooding rivers are subsiding.

Two feet of water covered North Mankato streets and at least 1,000 telephones are out of order. Four persons were hospitalized as a result of the flood.

City To Use Radar To Check Speeding

The city has made arrangements to borrow radar traffic-timing equipment from the Sheriff's Department in a move to check speeding on East Liverpool's busiest streets.

Safety-Service Director Lawrence S. Bloor said he made the arrangements because he is convinced that speeding and careless driving are responsible for the growing traffic toll.

"I believe the best deterrent is a good, stiff fine," the director added.

Mr. Bloor said warning signs will be erected at all main approaches to East Liverpool, explaining that the radar speed-checking equipment is in use. Via radio impulses, it indicates on a dial the speed of a passing car.

The director said he has noticed a growing tendency to speed on the one-way sections of Fifth and Sixth Sts. New "slow" signs will be painted on the pavements soon, he said.

Truman Finds Self Squeezed By MacArthur

France Joins Britain In Opposing Use Of Kai-shek's Troops

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—President Truman is caught in a squeeze between home-front supporters of General Douglas MacArthur, mostly Republicans, and U.S. allies who want him to discipline the outspoken general for his latest policy statement.

Capitol Hill friends think that after a week end of studying the situation, Mr. Truman might act quickly to make known his views on recent MacArthur statements which have run counter to military and State Department policies.

It is certain that any move to shear General MacArthur of any authority as supreme commander in Korea would touch off a storm in Congress.

Most lawmakers carefully avoided predicting the course of Mr. Truman's action, although some speculated privately that a presidential reprimand to the five-star general will be forthcoming.

Meanwhile, France lined up with Great Britain today in opposing General MacArthur's proposal for use of Chiang Kai-shek's troops by the United Nations.

The French News Agency said the government "confirmed that throughout the conversations carried on by diplomatic channels at Washington and Lake Success to fix the common positions of the powers with troops in Korea, France as well as Great Britain constantly has opposed any extension of the conflict, whether by bombing Manchuria or the use of nationalist Chinese troops, and in general any activity of the commander in chief not expressly approved by the U.N."

Copter Saves Sailors

LIVORNO, Italy, April 9—Three American sailors washed by high waves from the side of the aircraft carrier Roosevelt were rescued by a helicopter, the Italian news agency Ansa reported today.

Salem Soldier, 22, Is Missing In Korea

SALEM, April 9 (Special)—Corporal Carl White, 22, son of Mrs. Anna Trimmer White, has been missing in action in Korea since Feb. 12, his mother was notified.

The squad leader with the Second Infantry Division was among soldiers who got out of the trap in the Hambung area last fall and was with the last leaving Seoul when the Red recaptured it last winter.

He attended Salem High School and was employed by the Mullins Manufacturing Co. until he entered the service in September, 1947. He went overseas last August.

Alert St. Paul Police Beat Even Radio Time

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UP)—Radio waves are fast, but no faster than St. Paul police.

Radio dispatcher James Sullivan summoned six squad cars to the scene of a tavern holdup.

Holdup at Chatterbox, 369 Selby, bandit running east on Selby," Sullivan began. Then he was interrupted.

"This is car 554. We got him," a returning voice said.

Car 554, manned by Detectives William Vogelgesang and William Elbert had been cruising in the neighborhood of the holdup when the tavern manager ran out in pursuit of the thief.

"Holdup!," the manager shouted to the detectives and pointed to a figure fleeing in the heavy darkness.

Detective Elbert leaped to the chase on foot while Detective Vogelgesang circled the block in the other direction.

Meanwhile, a bar patron picked up the phone and called Dispatcher Sullivan.

The tiring bandit ran straight into the police car as Officer Elbert caught up to him.

Just then Dispatcher Sullivan's message came through on the car radio.

"Holdup at Chatterbox, 369 Selby," it began, but this is where you came in.

strength until we had evidence of good faith".

He said that at the rate the program is now going forward, "by the time we get to the summer of 1952 we will be very strong". He coupled that with this note of caution, however: Unless the nation works out a stable military manpower policy, "we will be weak without realizing the reason".

General Marshall drew a parallel between U.M.T. and the present defense production policy. As for materiel, he said, that policy does not contemplate the building up of huge stocks of plans and tanks and other weapons, but rather the facilities to turn them out if the need arises.

"The personnel part is an effort to put ourselves in the same position of rapid availability in personnel as we are in the matter of production of materiel," he continued. "Once we do that, we will be outstandingly the most powerful country in the world."

Asked whether it will be necessary to build the armed forces up beyond the present goal of about 3,500,000 men, General Marshall said:

"I don't know. We hope not. That will depend on the world situation this summer, as we estimate it then. We hope to avoid that necessity. We wish to avoid calling in additional reserve troops—National Guard units."

He expressed satisfaction with the present status of the military build-up following what he called "a serious dilemma" last June.

"We are getting to the point now where for the first time we have a little leeway in trained men. In May we will be much better off. We are getting on a very solid basis as to the future, and without overextending ourselves."

Eisenhower Inspects European Defenses

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 9 (AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower arrived today for a tactical inspection of three Allied armies guarding Europe on the Elbe line. He expects to spend four days looking over British, French and U. S. troops under his command.

Bank Employee Builds Own Electric Organ

ANNISTON, Ala. (UP) — William S. Coleman, a bank employee, wanted to give his wife a musical instrument, so he built her an electric organ.

Though he knows no music and is not an electrician, Mr. Coleman converted an abandoned pump organ into a modern electric instrument.

A spark of imagination, a few dollars worth of electrical materials, some hours of spare time and the discarded organ cabinet became a pleasant and novel surprise for his organistwife, who had wanted an organ for years.

• Ohio Bell operators know production is popping. They're putting through the calls that get defense jobs rolling and keep them rolling . . . fast!

Amazing toll dialing equipment adds extra speed to their nimble fingers. Operators now dial direct to more than a thousand cities and towns in America. Calls go through twice as fast . . . when callers give the out-of-town number.

Extended toll dialing is just one of many improvements since VJ Day. In five years, Ohio Bell has spent $218,000,000 to make your service bigger and better . . . adding 55% more telephones, 97% more telephone plant and increasing its employee force by 6,000.

Alert girl recruits are learning the operator's skill in company classes today. A seasoned force continues to handle vital calls with skill and sureness as these newcomers swell their ranks.

It takes a sound, progressive company to attract and hold the men and women who make telephone service dependable. It takes planning and investment to keep that service growing . . . ready for emergencies, personal or national.

FLASH! Published Figures Show:

CAMEL'S LEAD IN POPULARITY GREATEST IN 25 YEARS!

America's Smokers Have Made Many Mildness Tests...and Camel Leads All Others by Billions!

After all the cigarette mildness testing by the smokers of America . . . quick tests, trick tests—and the sensible, thorough 30-day Camel mildness test . . . latest published figures reveal that Camel has increased its lead as America's most popular cigarette by billions of cigarettes!

According to these figures, Camel leads by its largest margin in 25 years! Camel is the cigarette that more Americans enjoy than any other!

In Camels, more people find the two things they want most in their cigarette—flavor and mildness.

No other cigarette has Camel's rich, full flavor — pack after pack. It's a unique flavor of costly tobaccos properly aged and expertly blended.

And no other cigarette offers this conclusive proof of mildness, proof based on steady smoking:

In a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for thirty days, noted throat specialists reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

It is not unusual to hear people say, "Once a Camel smoker, always a Camel smoker." Through the years, Camel smokers find continuing enjoyment in the mildness and the rich, full flavor of Camels.

How Thorough Can a Cigarette Test Be?

You can't find out how well a cigarette agrees with your throat by just one puff or one sniff. It takes steady smoking. Make the one thorough, conclusive test. Smoke only Camels for thirty days. Let your "T-Zone"—T for Throat and T for Taste—tell you how mild, how flavorful Camels are, week in and week out.

MOST POPULAR MAN IN THE MOVIES! JOHN WAYNE was 1950's most popular actor at movie boxoffices. John Wayne's cigarette is America's most popular — Camel! "I've never come across a cigarette that tastes so good ...and Camels agree with my throat!"

America's most popular cigarette... by billions!

Marguerite Piazza's Rise to Fame

Two years ago, things began to happen to beautiful soprano Marguerite Piazza. She got the leading female role in a Broadway musical . . . became the leading singer of one of television's big weekly shows—then won a contract to sing in America's great opera house, the "Met."!

Two years ago was another turning point for Miss Piazza — as a cigarette smoker. She made the Camel 30-day test under the supervision of a noted throat specialist. For 30 days, Miss Piazza smoked only Camels. Each week the specialist examined her throat and reported no throat irritation due to smoking Camels! Miss Piazza has smoked Camels ever since.

WHAT CIGARETTE DO YOU SMOKE, DOCTOR?

Again a leading independent research organization has asked doctors all over the country, doctors in every branch of medicine, this question:

"What cigarette do you smoke, Doctor?"

Again the brand named most was Camel! Yes, according to this repeated nationwide survey, more doctors smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

Smoke the cigarette so many doctors smoke. Smoke Camels for flavor, for mildness, for continuous cigarette enjoyment.

'Chicken Of Tomorrow'

IT'S INSTRUCTIVE to look back every once in a while. The middle of last week, we printed a report that unemployment in East Liverpool was down very close to zero. Everyone who wanted a job apparently had one, and there was a fair-sized list of openings which couldn't be filled.

The facts were stated in about four paragraphs on Page One. Yet there are those who can remember when the total energies of the United States government were devoted to bringing about just such a condition—the days when 60,000,000 jobs was a magical figure that carried the promise of peace and contentment for the length and breadth of the land.

The figure now is buried beneath an even higher figure. But the contentment, what happened to that?

If that's a smile that crossed your face just now, it's justified. People really are funny. They manufacture unhappiness faster than they can devise ways to overcome it. They have found new mirages to chase, new figures to replace that dear, dead 60,000,000.

It's like the "Chicken of Tomorrow" contest that we've been getting publicity releases about for at least three years. If that darn chicken ever arrived, it would spoil the contest. And that's no fun, is it?

MacArthur Is Not The Issue

AMERICA has developed a bad habit. Whenever it is confronted with a large issue, it picks out one detail and argues about that, at the expense of the whole issue.

At the moment, it is resuming an argument over a piffling detail of Asiatic policy. The detail is General MacArthur's right, or lack of right, to say what he thinks about Asiatic policy.

But General MacArthur—what he says or doesn't say—is not the issue. The issue is whether or not the United States is on the right track in Asia.

This issue has a long history. It has been a sore point in party politics throughout this century. The Democratic party consistently has minimized Asia's importance. The Republican party has emphasized Asia's importance. Democrats have kept their eyes fixed on Europe, Republicans have spared time to scrutinize Asia.

The soundness of that policy is the issue, not General MacArthur's right to state his opinion about it.

More Time In School?

THE superintendent of Chicago public schools, Herold C. Hunt, believes that in another 50 years children will start to school at the age of 3 and be exposed to education until they're 20.

That would be the equivalent in educational time of elementary, high school and college education under present schedules. Students going into graduate work would add at least four more years—as much as eight more years in the case of those preparing for careers in medicine.

If to all this schooling there were to be added a couple of years for military service, which in itself is a form of education for modern living, many persons would be spending more than half their lives preparing to do something potentially useful with the remainder.

That might make sense to educators. It sounds like a grim prospect to students and parents of the current generation. There might be merit in starting fledgling students at 3 if the objective were to shorten the academic stretch-out at the finish line. But there would be far more merit in shortening the stretch-out.

Is there any demonstrably sound reason why education should virtually be abandoned for three months a year.

Why Not Surrender?

WHENEVER society gets in the mood for a housecleaning, there's always someone who argues it would be easier just to legalize the dirt and forget it.

In New York, a letter to The Herald Tribune says the thing to do is repeal all laws which breed organized crime and corruption of government. These laws, the writer argues, "tend to deliver the economic functions of satisfying relatively human demands into the hands of the criminal elements". Therefore, the argument concludes, the easy way out is to legalize the things which racketeers and hoodlums are doing and quit worrying about them. The writer believes a popular referendum would support his conclusion—and he might be right.

But it wouldn't be quite so easy to make the lawbreakers respectable as he claims it would be. Frank Costello, for example, was a New York bootlegger during prohibition. What amounted to a national referendum caused the bootlegging business to become legitimate. Thereupon, Costello got into other lines of activity, because he wanted to make money faster than it could be made in a legitimate business, subject to competition.

Where would society end up if it surrendered to every activity taken over by criminal elements? Far from making the racketeers and hoodlums respectable, it would succeed only in destroying its own standards of respectability.

Behind The News

By George Sokolsky

Deserved Praise For J. Edgar Hoover

J. EDGAR HOOVER has an opportunity to extend his authority, to build his empire hugely, to obtain increased funds from Congress for the F.B.I.

Astonishingly, he rejects the prospects. No one ever heard of a Washington bureaucrat refusing more power and more money.

Yet in the face of a great demand that something should be done to rescue the country from racketeers, dope peddlers, fixers, crooked politicians and money-hungry middlemen, Mr. Hoover said this to the Kefauver committee:

"This nation has no need for a national police force. Cries frequently are heard that America, to meet 'the problems of the day', must create a master, over-all law enforcement agency, whose authority would extend to every nook and cranny of the nation. I disagree with this attitude. My experience has demonstrated that the present system of law enforcement, national, state and local, is the best system. The peace officer must be the servant of the people — protecting their interests and responding to their will. The law enforcement agency must be an integral party of the community. Otherwise, the American system of democratic government would be defiled."

In all the excitement engendered by the Kefauver investigation, three facts stand out:

The law must be enforced, but no matter what the urgency, our civil liberties must not be imperiled and our structural relations between the federal, the state and municipal governments must not be altered.

FOR MANY years, many reformers have tried to abolish state governments. At one time, the New Dealers tried to cut the United States into regions which would override the states. These efforts failed, but we can destroy our structure by the careless use of our own enthusiasms. Mr. Hoover is to be praised for rejecting a trap which would put him at the head of a Gestapo.

It is true that the Mafia does operate in the United States as the Communist party operates in the United States. Neither of them could operate if the American people were alert and if our officials enforced the law. Mr. Hoover said:

"There can be no concealment of the fact that law enforcement has not always performed at peak expectations. The fault is not in the system, but in the way it works. The American people, if they desire competent, efficient and effective administration of justice, must be willing to provide financial means, moral support and a practical realization of the responsibilities of citizenship. A Police Department, understaffed, underpaid and ill-equipped, cannot properly fulfill its duties. Lack of public interest may allow a small minority of peace officers, aided and abetted by corrupt politicians, crooked prosecutors and underworld 'fixers', to bring shame upon the profession. Action is needed, not to revamp the fundamental structure of American law enforcement, but to strengthen, in technical skill, character and esprit de corps, the existing institutions."

In the shift from a rural to an urban population, a serious change took place in the attitude of the American people to civic responsibilities. Shifting populations add to that the characteristics of a rootless people. Public standards toboggan when the public lacks concern.

IT IS perhaps a pity that in recent years we have become so concerned with foreign affairs and wars and the fears of wars that interest in our own affairs has unfortunately shifted, particularly in metropolitan areas where little attention is paid to what is done by public officials

In fact, in cities like New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, to mention three, elections often hinge on extraneous issues which are in no manner related to a candidate's fitness for the office for which he is running. As long as the people elect an official that way, we shall have poor officials.

We have a way of regarding any successful man as a celebrity —even a successful ex-bootlegger or a successful current fixer.

Mr. Hoover said of this:

"Too frequently, when pressures mount in local communities by reason of dissatisfaction with conditions, leaders, either to escape with wrath of citizens or to conceal their own inability to cope with situations, have advanced the alibi that 'this is a job for the federal government'. The time has come to take stock. The federal government can never be a satisfactory substitute for local self-government in the enforcement field."

Inside Of Labor

By Victor Riesel

COMMUNISTS never underestimate the power of a woman, which is why they've been using tough squads of 15 and 20 men to slug anti-Communist girls who've been organizing against them in and around some of our most secret war plants.

Red action squads in the last few weeks have smashed the nose and head of one C.I.O. lass, almost splintered the leg of another and heaved a third out of a restaurant where she had a secret rendezvous with war workers—secret because of the lefty terror spread by the notorious pro-Communist United Electrical Workers.

So what we have here, even as the casualties inflicted on our troops by Sovietized armies begin creeping up to the 100,000 mark, is violence on the home front—lesser casualties inflicted by a pro-Soviet union on loyal women labor organizers. And all because the women seek to protect the very war plants which feed the G.I.'s in Korea the weapons with which to protect themselves. Does no one care?

Not so long ago, the woman whose nose was smashed, Mary Lou Uehlin, stood outside an isolated gate at the critical General Electric works in Schenectady.

And that's one plant which Jim Carey's C.I.O electrical union wants to see manned by a labor outfit trusted by our war agencies. It turns out warship turbines, among its other secret material. So the C.I.O. dispatched Mary Lou and her husband, as an organizing team, to distribute leaflets urging the war workers to join them and abandon the pro-Commie outfit now controlling those G.E. people. She went, knowing full well that two weeks earlier a woman colleague had been slugged in the same area.

SOON AFTER she began handing out her throwaways, a U.E. organizer began screaming vulgar slurs on her character and decency. Naturally her husband resented this and ran to protect his wife. That's just what the Red action squad awaited. The sluggers had been watching from the window of a near-by restaurant. They dashed out, smashed Mary Lou's nose and roughed up her husband.

It's been happening all over the East—even inside the Emerson Radio plant over in Jersey City, where some of the lefties once worked at jobs alongside Julius Rosenberg, the convicted atomic spy. There, a pro-Commie organizer dived for a C.I.O. girl, Pauline Rivera, to destroy her organizing material, and left her with a bruised body.

Much as the action squads would like to restrict themselves to battling women, they find they must take on men their size. But they got around this by rolling in 40-man squads armed with bats and clubs.

And just so no one thinks the comrades aren't free to roam this country, let me pin it down. A 40-to-50 man pro-Commie muscle machine drove C.I.O. organizers from the Mark Simpson plant, 32-70 49th St., Long Island City, at 7:30 a. m. on March 28. Does nobody care about this and 100 other such incidents we have on record? Remember, this area is the heart of the electronic industry supplying communications systems for the Defense Department.

This pro-Soviet union, the U.E., would fight frenziedly for control of such critical shops under any circumstances. But today its terror is even more intense because it's fighting for the very life of the pro-Communist propaganda apparatus inside labor. The supreme lefties need this mouthpiece more than ever now. Here's why.

IT'S THE hard core of the pro-Soviet's labor machine in America today. It's quoted regularly over the Moscow radio, beamed to the world to prove that American labor hates anti-communism.

Only the other day, at the DuMont plant in Yonkers, we learned from people who had bolted the left wing that they had to march in Commie May Day parades or be fined $5—not to mention the harrowing threats and harassments.

One girl there said: "I didn't even know what kind of a parade it was until people started spitting at me as I marched down the avenue."

Another woman, Truie Trumbla, pulled her unit, at Des Moines, Ia., out of the U.E.'s Red labor network when she was called to a "wage-price regulation" conference in Chicago—and discovered that most of the U.E. talk "was about defense of the 10 Communist leaders in New York".

The U.E. lefties have their tactics so shrewdly and detailedly planned for propaganda activity that at the R.C.A. Camden plant they concentrated on capturing the union running the factory cafeteria. All workers gather there at one time and are a "made-to-order" audience.

And the U.E. succeeded. The United Electrical Workers Union now runs that cafeteria — and dishes out promises of pie in the sky, which is the only place the workers will get it if they get off the food line and onto the Party line.

Will He Stay Hot?

Shall We Meet The Challenge Or Not?

By David Lawrence

THIRTY-FOUR YEARS ago the United States entered World War I and President Woodrow Wilson shocked Congress by his message demanding conscription and the use of "force without stint". But he got overwhelming support at once from both political parties in Congress.

Today the issue of conscription is debated again. But this time the councils in both political parties are confused.

There are Republicans and Democrats who haven't wanted to send any more troops to Europe and there are members of Congress from both parties who would like to see our forces brought back from Korea, too, and to have all our effort concentrated in defending the territorial United States.

In the middle of all this comes a rather emphatic statement from the Republican leader in the House of Representatives, Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, who demands to know why the armed forces of China on Formosa are not being used to open a second Asiatic front against the Communists. The Formosa armies owe allegiance to President Chiang Kai-shek of the government of China, which is still recognized by us and by the United Nations as the legitimate government of the Chinese republic.

IT IS, however, by the order of the United States government that the Nationalist forces on Formosa are not permitted to land on the Chinese mainland. This was ordered last June at a time when the American government hoped to localize the conflict in Korea and keep the war confined to a battle between the North and South Koreans.

Since that time, on the other hand, the Communists of China have entered the fray. They have enjoyed immunity from attack on their Manchurian bases, from which come planes and armies regularly to attack the United Nations forces in Korea. America already has suffered a large list of casualties.

"Why, in God's name," shouts Representative Martin, "aren't the forces of Chiang Kai-shek being used?" The minority leader then produces a letter from General Douglas MacArthur, the U.N. commander in chief in Korea, who says there is no conflict of "logic or tradition" in using the troops of the Nationalist government.

The two words—"logic" and "tradition"—have lots of meaning in this connection. It is logical from a military viewpoint for the Nationalists to be encouraged to open a second front on China's mainland and thus draw Communist troops away from the Korean battle area.

It is traditional, too, for the United States government to assist a recognized government which requests military aid. The precedent had been established in Greece and in many other countries even before the Truman Doctrine was announced in 1947.

The problem of using the Nationalist forces has come up again and again. The State Department has counseled against it on the theory that the Nationalists are not strong enough or that they would require American aid which would amount to intervention by us on the mainland of China and that this would assuredly bring Russia into the war.

GENERAL MacArthur evidently has heard these arguments and is not persuaded by them. He thinks apparently that the diplomats have been bluffed into a timid state and that Russia, conscious of the weakness of the diplomats and their fears, is moving ahead aggressively to help the Chinese Communists in Korea anyway.

General MacArthur has a right, of course, to testify before Congress and answer any questions its members may ask. In his reply to Representative Martin he says forthrightly that global war has begun in Asia and that this is the place to meet the challenge.

"Here in Korea," he writes, "we fight Europe's war with arms while the diplomats there still fight it with words."

The reference undoubtedly is not to American diplomats but to European diplomats, so many of whom have been criticizing General MacArthur and trying recently to hamstring him by declaring that he wants to make war on China.

In truth, General MacArthur realistically points out that the Chinese Communists have made war upon us that the only question to be answered is whether America will meet the challenge or let her own troops in Korea be chewed up as a consequence of a limited strategy and a refusal to use "force without stint".

Watch For The Bounce

By Truman Twill

MANNERS keep changing. The extent of the change for the worst since 1900 can be measured by looking at old etiquette books.

They make you wonder what things would be like in another half century if they continued to move in the same direction. There would be no fixed rules of conduct left at all by the beginning of the 21st century. Everything would be catch-as-catch-can and devil-take-the-hindmost like Saturday night in Singapore.

But here is a guess that manners, like most other things, always go in cycles. Right now the cycle has gone as far in the direction of informality and improvisation as it can go.

Before long, therefore, it will produce a restoration of formality. Manners then will keep getting stuffier and more unnatural until they finally become absurd —then the cycle will turn toward informality again.

But that will not happen until the 21st century. Meanwhile, those of us who were encouraged to throw formal manners overboard in the first half of this century are going to have to learn how to do some bowing and scraping.

We are going to learn that a lot of the friction we encountered on the rocky road to nowhere was the result of a nation-wide decline in etiquette. We are going to learn that life without a certain amount of bowing and scraping is like a sports contest without rules and referees.

The rising generation will come by better manners naturally. It will sponsor more rigid codes of conduct than have been common for the last half century —and if that seems to cover too much territory, watch the upstarts go to work on the proposition.

The moppets are shocked by the loose behavior of the old men and the old women who are running things now. The youngsters see a direct connection between chaos in personal conduct and the antics which have brought shame to public life.

The youngsters itch for a revival of propriety. If necessary, they are prepared to chastise the old cutups who behave as though they wanted to be perennial delinquents. The way the kids see it, the declining generation never quite grew up. Its members were over-impressed with liberty, not sufficiently impressed with their responsibility of enjoying liberty with dignity.

The Printers' Mass

"THE 50th jubilee of a Mass set aside for night-side printers and first observed at 2:30 in the morning at St. Andrews Church, in the shadow of Park Row, N. Y., March 24, 1901, was celebrated yesterday."—News item.

I kneel in wonderment, thanksgiving and humility.

Through my fingers have coursed the chronicles of life in city, state and nation.

My touch on a keyboard has helped to spread enlightenment, drama and happiness.

No reporter's story has blossomed without my co-operation; no editor's message found expression without my aid.

My work is shorn of applause. I know no fame, no glamour, yet have I felt the thrill of high performance in the stirring service of a free press in a great republic.

IT HAS been my daily experience to chronicle birth, life and death, romance and tragedy, happiness and despair. Life has seemed to pass before my eyes and under my finger tips in an endless recording.

Through this touch with aspiration and failure, hope and frustration, high comedy and deep tragedy, all woven in the great fabric of a city's daily life, the ways of God have been especially evident to me in every moment of my work.

My linotype has seemed a living organism ceaselessly functioning for the good of mankind.

The narrow alley between these machines at times has held the alternating mood of an aisle in a cathedral, theater, stadium, courtroom, hospital and hillside chapel.

Journeying to the printers' Mass in the stillness of the deep night, the sound of my footsteps in a deserted street has seemed like strange shufflings in the great pew of a cavernous cathedral lighted vaguely by the candles and tapers of the heavens.

In the silence of the lonely hours in a big city the majesty of God has seemed close and kindly.

HUMAN EVENTS have paraded so swiftly before me in my chosen work that my life has been like a swift journey, making more real to me than to many others the words "The few years a wisp of fog betwixt up and the sun; a call to battle, and the battle done."

In the quiet consolation of the printer's Mass I find unforgetable peace; the solace of a magic hour deep in contract to the roar and tumult of the newspaper plant.

Here is the "million star extra".

Here I lock the "form" of Faith, put the things of the spirit "to press" and how my head before the symbols of the greatest story in human experience.

Here at the altar is the front page recital of the greatest story ever told, undimmed through the centuries.

I am grateful for my profession, Lord. In it I have in a way been helper to priest, to teacher, to editor, to lawmaker, to publisher, to public servant and to my fellow man. Amen.

Yesterdays

From The Review Files

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO—David B. Mackintosh, Water Works clerk for two years, resigned because of his intention to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for county commissioner in the primary.

The Chamber of Commerce conferred with out-of-town interests to discuss a proposal for the erection of a five-kiln plant for the manufacture of stone and yellow ware.

The Chester Independent Board of Education authorized a special election to vote on a $25,000 bond issue to enlarge and repair the Central School Building.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Wellsville city council voted in favor of a brick on a concrete base for the proposed improvement of Clark Ave., to be completed during the summer.

Elvera Aley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Aley of Bank St., suffered a fractured left wrist when she fell while roller skating on the sidewalk.

Miss Helen McLean was named queen and Misses Lois Momberg, Mildred Williams, Grace Cook, Mary Alton, Erla Bell and Esther Serafy her attendants for the May Festival of Wellsville High School students at Hammond Park.

TEN YEARS AGO — East Liverpool City Council ordered the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. to repair its crossings and to install a second safety gate at the foot of Broadway.

East Liverpool Schools were closed for a three-day Spring vacation consisting of Maundy Thursday, Good Friday and Easter Monday.

The Newell Volunteer Fire Department purchased for $200 drums, bugles and other equipment of the disbanded Chester Fire Department corps.

Senator Stays On Sidelines

Group Takes Soundings On Taft's 1952 Chances

By RAYMOND LAHR, United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 9—A three-man team of Ohio Republicans is taking informal soundings to decide whether to set up a campaign organization to seek the 1952 G. O. P. presidential nomination for Senator Robert A. Taft. Friends of the Ohio senator said today, however, that he personally is taking no active part in the pulse-taking.

These are the three who are: Representative Clarence J. Brown, Ohio G. O. P. national committeman and manager of Mr. Taft's unsuccessful fight for the 1948 nomination; Ben Tate of Cincinnati, one of the directors of Mr. Taft's 1950 senatorial campaign, and David Ingalls of Cleveland, Mr Taft's cousin and campaign aide.

According to Mr. Taft's friends, the three talked to him after his re-election triumph in Ohio last fall and asked about his 1952 plans. Mr. Taft, who tried and failed in 1940 and 1948, told them he would not try for the presidential nomination again.

One of the three was reported to have said that a man sometimes gets what he has fought for after he has quit fighting. Mr. Taft was asked if he would take the nomination if it came to him.

Mr. Taft was said to have given the same reply that he since has given to news conferences—that he would take it, but would not work for it.

In the months since then, there has been something of a drift among Republicans into two camps, one favoring Mr. Taft for the 1952 nomination and one backing General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Mr. Taft has always been a strong favorite among many organization Republicans, although some have had doubts in past campaigns about his ability to win. His backers now are hoping that the size of Ohio majority last year has dispelled the doubts.

Since their talk with Mr. Taft, Mr. Brown, Mr. Tate and Mr. Ingalls have been reported to be testing sentiment for their candidate in correspondence and conversation.

They expect to meet sometime this summer to decide whether to set up a formal organization to collect funds and to direct the hunt for delegates to the 1952 party convention. They do not expect any active participation by Mr. Taft.

However, the Ohio senator would have to give at least a formal nod by next winter. Under the Ohio law, delegates can be elected only if their candidate has publicly accepted their support.

Associates of Mr. Taft believe the illness of his wife is a major factor in his current attitude toward the 1952 nomination.

Crash Fatal To 22 Probed In West

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., April 9 (AP)—Civil Aeronautics Authorities are investigating the crash of the Southwest Airways plane which flung the bodies of 22 passengers and crewmen across a mountainside near here Friday night.

Only 10 of the bodies are believed identifiable. The rest were torn and burned beyond recognition in the crash and resultant fire.

Trucks brought the bodies to a mortuary here last night.

Some of the 12 military personnel on the plane can be identified only by dog tags.

As authorities began sifting ashes for clues to the cause of the accident, Sheriff John D. Ross said one of the DC-3's two engines apparently failed. The plane lost altitude and pancaked on the side of 4,000-foot Santa Ynez peak, the highest in this area.

The National Geographic Society says the Chow is the only dog with all blue or black lips and tongues.

The Garden Corner

You Can Plant Garbage, 'Grow' Good Garden Soil

By GLENNA DILTS HALL

To the suburban dweller, who has no free disposal service, garbage can be a real problem Usually the homeowner has to pay for dumping it, or find some other means of doing away with the kitchen leavings, as well as surplus from the garden

No real gardener ever will need the services of a garbage man, even if they are free, because there is a lot of good value in the scrapings, peelings, husks, tops, and so on, that come off plates or are left after preparing foods for cooking

None of this ought to be wasted, even stuff that, through neglect, has passed beyond the fresh" stage It may not be good food for man or beast, but it certainly can help grow food

Because the garden needs plenty of organic matter, many gardeners compost the garbage, carrying it to the compost box or pit, turning it over periodacally, wetting it down, waiting for time to take its deliberate course, and finally bringing the end result in the form of good, crumbly compost to enrich the garden soil.

It is worthwhile, but it also is a lot of work What has been needed is a way to take care of the garbage problem with minor effort, and yet with benefit to the soil

There is a gardening tractor out now, called the Rot-Ette, which handles this situation quickly and efficiently

Instead of delivering vegetable wastes to the compost heap or box, they are put right into the garden with the Roto-Ette, using a couple of the attachments

A strip is taken anywhere in the garden, and gone over with the machine, which is powered with a one-and-a-half horsepower gasoline engine One attachment opens up a continuous trench 5 or 6 inches deep

Into this trench goes the garbage Kitchen wastes, and all animal and vegetable garbage, including such highly resistant items as citrus peels, are dumped into the furrow

Using a rake, the garbage or other material is covered immediately with soil Corn is husked on the spot, and the husks go into the furrow also The same with carrot and turnip tops, pea or bean vines when they are ready for pulling, outside leaves of lettuce, and so on It's a handy way to take care of crop residue

As Dr Selman A Waksman, the discoverer of streptomycin, has proved, disease bacteria are destroyed in short order in good soil Those same molds from which we got the wonder drugs, plus perhaps some friendly bacteria, take over when organic matter gets into the soil They begin feeding on it breaking it down into usable form for growing plants, and consuming disease germs

No garbage odors develop and if the garbage deposited is on the strong side, the odor disappears almost immediately

Earthworms which seldom are present in compost boxes, but always are found in good soil help with the process in the garden

SOWING fertilizer between seed rows marked by string attached to stakes in garden.

Garden Fans Differ About Fertilizers

Some Line Up With Commercial Variety, Others Like 'Natural'

There are two schools of thought about the use of commercial fertilizers in home gardens

One group of experts says that if manure is not available, the commercial fertilizers, such as nitrogen - phosphorus combinations, should be used

The other school says to use manure and compost composed of 'natural materials These include decayed leaves and garbage

The second group—with a wide following—says the use of commercial fertilizer produces inferior crops It also claims crops grown from "natural' fertilizers are more likely to have greater resistance to insects and plant diseases

Best results are obtained where plenty of manure or other organic matter has been worked into the soil before the garden was planted

Fertilizer experts say the home gardener should be careful not to use too much commercial fertilizer Whether it is broadcast or applied underneath the seed rows, it should be well mixed with the soil before the seeds are planted.

Chinchillas Enrich San Diego County

SAN DIEGO, Calif (UP) — A million-dollar industry has developed in San Diego county It is raising chinchillas

Willard Sinclair, president of the San Diego branch of the National Chinchilla Breeders of America, said there are 200 persons in San Diego engaged in raising between 2,000 and 3,000 of the tiny animals The chinchillas are valued at $1 000 a pair.

Mr Sinclair said the climate around San Diego is ideal for raising the valuable fur animals because they become ill in extreme heat and cold They are almost extinct in their native Andes mountains

Almost all chinchillas in the United States are being kept for breeding purposes, Mr Sinclair says, since there are far too few at present to be used commercially for fur

How Do TERMITES Form New Colonies?

In the Spring and sometimes in the Fall, during the middle of a hot, moist day, the reproducers swarm They emerge from the earth or wood, crawl on some wall until their wings are dry, fly about for a short time, then drop to the earth. There they shed their wings and pair off, each new Queen and King seeking a home on the earth, preferably next to wood Here they mate and establish a new colony, the eggs developing rapidly into workers and soldiers.

There's Right Way To Repair Plaster Crack

Dig Back Deepest In Part Nearest Lath To Get Good Foundation

Plaster cracks are one of the most common occurences in any household. They are usually caused by movement. All houses move with expansion and contraction, vibration and settlement. Yours is no different from your neighbors'.

Cracks from movement are classified as structural cracks. They are large, well-defined and extend all the way through to the lath. Minor cracks are map cracks—fine hair - lines known as fire-cracks and crazing. These ordinarily result from poor workmanship and inferior quality of plaster.

You'll find structural cracks in corners, over doorways and windows, or running diagonally down a wall. They're usually nothing to worry about. In a new house, it's a good idea to let them go for several months until settlement is completed—a year, perhaps.

But of course such things torture your wife. When she notices one, it's a good idea to make a small pencil mark at the end of the crack. Continue this until the crack has stopped spreading.

When you and/or your wife are ready to have it fixed, tap the surrounding plaster lightly to see that it is not loose. Loose plaster has to be removed. Use a knife to cut out the edges of the crack, but make the cut wider close to the lath than at the surface. A wedge shaped opening like that will let the patch lock itself into place.

Get a good grade of patching plaster at your hardware store. This is better than using pure plaster-of-Paris, because it hardens more slowly. If you use plaster-of-Paris without a hardening retarder, you'll find your time limited to about 10 minutes. Glue dissolved in the mixing water will slow it and so will a half-and-half mixture of water and vinegar. But commercial patching plaster is simpler.

Mix it with clean water in a clean container. Dampen the old plaster along the crack to prevent it from absorbing too much of the moisture in your patching mix.

Using a small diamond-shaped trowel or putty knife, fill the crack to about an eighth of an inch of the surface. As the patch dries it will shrink a little. Then apply more patching plaster to fill and smooth it off even with the surface. For a professional job, keep the whole thing damp for about 24 hours. This will prevent chalkiness.

Map or fire cracks do not penetrate as deeply as structural cracks. When they are fine, you can fill them by brushing on a mixture of three parts boiled linseed oil and one part turpentine. When they are slightly wider, you can fill them with white lead thinned with turps to a thin paste. Force this paste in with a cloth, wipe off the surplus and when it is dry sand it very lightly.

Bulging plaster means it is loose. After removing the loose part, check the lath to see that it has not pulled away from the studs or joists. If it has, fasten it. To patch such places, use the same procedure as in patching structural cracks. Large patches, however, may call for the work of an expert plasterer if you want a neat job.

Sandpapering plaster to make it smooth is not a good idea. It may remove the natural glaze and leave a porous surface that will absorb more paint than the rest of the wall and consequently show the patch. If you trowel it smooth and do a careful job, the patch will never be noticeable after paint or paper are applied.

County Jailer Asks War Bombing Insurance

CROWN POINT, Ind. (UP) — Warden George McCormack wants to get the county jail ready for war.

He asked the commissioners to install an auxiliary power unit in case an enemy bomb knocked out the regular line.

The board didn't seem impressed until Mr. McCormack said simply:

"I can't send my guests home if the power does go off."

The board ordered the county engineer to make cost estimates.

PLAN #B-5117

THE PERENNIALLY popular ranch house gets the advantages of center hall layout in this plan B-5117 by Alvin Cassens Jr., architect, 116-55 Queens Boulevard, Forest Hills, N. Y. This house can be built with or without a basement and the plan includes optional features of fireplace and additional closets in the middle bedroom. Area covered by house is 1,710 square feet; 294 square feet for oversize garage and storage. Content with basement figures 35,910 cubic feet with 3,428 added for garage. Over-all dimensions are 57' 2" by 41' 4". The architect suggests a front of brick and stone veneer, sides of colored shingles and a roof of asphalt shingles.

Lack Of Funds May Cut Off FHA Loan Guarantees

WASHINGTON, April 9 (INS) —The Federal Housing Administration may have to suspend lending operations next month unless Congress gives the agency new authority to guarantee home loans.

FHA officials report that only about 350 million dollars remain to be committed for lending, and this will be gone in May as a result of the continuing high level of construction.

The threat of suspension develops from the action of the Senate banking and currency committee, which has dropped FHA operating provisions from the defense housing bill.

Congress originally was asked for three billion dollars to carry on defense housing, and the government's regular housing program. The committee, however, scaled down the amount to a billion and a half dollars, and eliminated funds covering FHA activities.

Officials of the National Association of Home Builders say they are worried about the effect of this development on housing production later this Spring.

The FHA, however, has no immediate plans to make a special request to Congress to correct the problem, although it needs two billion dollars to continue lending until January, 1953.

Spruce Up Your Store with a KENTILE FLOOR!

There's more come-on, more good looks to Kentile. For instance—we'll lay Kentile in such a way that traffic goes in the direction you want (Kentile squares, plus strips, does the trick). Or we'll separate departments by visual panels.

As for wear! Stop worrying! Kentile outlasts virtually any other flooring. Shrugs off dirt, mud. You don't even worry about dropped cigarettes.

Cuts down upkeep, too. Simple mopping keeps Kentile clean. (an occasional waxing keeps it bright). And its colors go clear through, so you have no color-worn spots!

Give Your Child The BIG 8 in WONDER BREAD!

Let The 8 Elements in Wonder Bread Help Your Child Grow Bigger and Stronger 8 Ways!

Note How Amazing Wonder Bread Compares With Meat, Milk, and Fish 8 Ways (as shown at right)

Is your child developing, mentally and physically, at the rate he or she should?

A recent survey of 9,543 children disclosed the shocking fact that 4 out of 5 are not well fed according to the standards of The National Research Council.

These common foods supply ALL the essential food elements your child needs each day: Meat, bread, milk, eggs, fruit, yellow and green-leafed vegetables.

Let your child have the "BIG 8" in Wonder Bread.

Good for Growth and Energy

As shown in the chart, Wonder Bread is very valuable—because it helps your child grow bigger and stronger 8 ways.

Growing children need TWICE the protein per pound of body weight as grownups.

Penny for penny, Wonder Bread gives your child more body-building protein than the average of meat, milk, fish and eggs.

Growing children require energy for work and play.

Wonder Bread is a substantial energy food. More quickly converted into energy than fat. And better than fat for child growth.

Helps Build Stronger, Bigger Bodies 8 Ways

The chart shows the 8 body and brain-building properties of Wonder Bread.

Serve Wonder Bread with meat, fish, eggs, milk, fruit and both yellow and green-leafed vegetables in a balanced diet to supply ALL the food elements your child must have for healthy growth.

8 ounces of Wonder Bread for a growing child cost less than a dime a day. You can afford Wonder Bread for your child.

Doubly Fresh

Children love Wonder Bread. Plain or toasted. Because Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it; fresh when you eat it. Because slo-baked—13% longer than many ordinary kinds for lasting freshness.

Get economical Wonder Bread fresh from your grocer today—you'll be glad you did.

Miss Mary McNeil Weds City Soldier In Chester Rites

MRS. S. B. BEAVER

Pughtown girl becomes bride.

PALMS and ferns formed the altar setting for the candlelight rites held Saturday night for the wedding of Miss Mary Elizabeth McNeil and Private First Class S. Burrl Beaver. The 6:30 o'clock nuptials were solemnized in the Chester Christian Church and Rev. Donald Gregory officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McNeil of Pughtown, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jacobs, 218 West Sixth St.

A half-hour recital of nuptial organ music was given by Mrs. Don G. Stewart and Claude Ankrom was soloist. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a gown of white lace and nylon over satin. Lace edged with nylon trimmed the off-shoulder neckline and the hoop skirt was highlighted with a train. Her fingertip veil of illusion, edged with lace, was caught to a cap of pearl orange blossoms and she carried a cascading bouquet of white hyacinths and carnations with long streamers.

Miss Darlene Stolarczky was maid of honor in white organdy over green taffeta, fashioned with a Queen Anne collar and puffed sleeves edged with appliqued flowers and full skirt. She wore a matching bonnet and carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations.

James S. McNeil, brother of the bride, served as best man.

Ushers were Arthur James Laughlin and John Kalin both of Chester.

Mrs. McNeil chose Navy blue with mauve and Navy accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations, and Mrs. Jacobs was dressed in Navy blue with matching accessories and wore a similar corsage.

A reception for the immediate families followed at the home of the bride's parents. The three-tiered cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

The couple left for a Southern honeymoon and for traveling the bride was attired in a Navy blue suit with Navy and mauve accessories. Her corsage was of roses.

The bridegroom will return to Langley Field, Va., and the bride will remain temporarily with her parents.

The bride is a graduate of Chester High School and of Ohio Valley Business College and is employed as secretary in the Hancock County Agricultural Office.

Her husband attended East Liverpool High School and served with the Air Force in Germany during World War II. Before being recalled to service, he was employed at Chaney's Service Station in Chester.

Baby Talking Baby

SOMEWHAT RELUCTANTLY I tackle the popular song profession, a field I don t understand at all simply because there s a program around called Songs For Sale My interest in the popular song dodge flagged after someone wrote Save Your Confederate Money, Boys, The South Will Rise Again You ve all heard it, of course It contains that immortal line 'When we whup them Yanks we ll open them banks and declare a dividend The song - writing art reached a peak right there that will never come again

At least that s what I think It s only fair to point out that other scholars in this specialized field disagree Mitchell Rawson a world-recognized authority, favors that great World War I song If He Can Fight Like He Can Love Then It s Goodbye Germany

'I know he ll be a hero when he s over there
"Because he s a bear
"In any morris chair'

BUT LET'S NOT start singing the old songs We ll be here all night Songs For Sale (CBS 8 p m Fridays) is according to the opening announcement the big chance for unknown song-writers to have their songs played by Ray Bloch and sung by Rosemary Clooney —if that is any inducement to you young unknown song-writers None of the unknown song-writers has yet touched the pinnacle of genius of those two songs I ve mentioned or got anywhere near it But they re trying awfully hard

Not long ago Songs For Sale introduced for the first, and just possibly the last time on the air a song called Baby-Talkin Baby

Its lyric was almost exclusively devoted to baby talk Not quite so much baby talk as you find in I Taw A Puddy Tat but if my insensitive ears are to be trusted, a bit more expert baby talk than that of Bouncy Bouncy Ball-y I could be wrong about this My experience is limited

The program possesses a panel of experts who hand down indictments on these songs One of these experts, Russ Morgan the bandleader spoke up vehemently on this one

'Personally, baby talk failed in my first marriage' I consider this opinion biased immaterial irrelevant, incompetent and un-American and I think Mr Morgan ought to be disbarred for uttering it

Just because Mr Morgan s first marriage foundered in a sea of baby talk is no reason Tin Pan Alley should abandon baby talk and learn English

One of the comforts of my middle years is the mental picture I conjure up in periods of stress of a couple of balding paunchy song-writers trying to find a thyme for 'Snookums Just between you and me I, too, am working on a baby talk song Let s oo and Me Play Pattycake But Not Here, For Goodness Sake

I d hate to think that the baby talk lyric had been ruled unconstitutional before I got my song ready for Songs For Sale

THE PROGRAM, which seems to have got elbowed aside in this column is presided over by Jan Murray a sort of thin Morey Amsterdam He tells jokes 'A good husband is hard to find says one contestant You re telling me ripostes Mr Murray My aunt has been trying to find her husband for 10 years Want to hear some more of Mr Murray s jokes? No? You re sure? Positive? Well all right

Along with the songs by unknowns you ll hear a good many songs by well-knowns And the difference I must confess is sometimes slight

Still, the unknown song-writers whose work is bandied about on Songs For Sale have remained without exception spectacularly unknown Tough racket to break into, song-writing I haven t been able to find a publisher for my other baby-talk song How Can Itty Bitty You Be Such A Great Big Lousy Tramp?

End Of R.F.C. Called For By Hickenlooper

Odor Of Unmorality Cited: Hoover Also Urges Abolishment

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) — Senator Hickenlooper (R) of Iowa said today the Reconstruction Finance Corp has acquired such a bad odor of unmorality it ought to be abolished

There may be some good reason for a small new agency which could make loans to deserving and qualified small companies unable to get them from commercial banks Mr Hickenlooper declared

But I think the R F C as such has outlived its usefulness and should be liquidated'

He expressed his views to a reporter against a background of charges by a Senate banking subcommittee that in granting loans the R F C has yielded to outside influence some of it from the White House

In urging that the agency be abolished Mr Hickenlooper opposed a presidential reorganization plan which would replace the R F C Board of Directors with a single administrator

On the other hand Senator George (D) of Georgia came out for the plan over the week end and thereby parted company on the issue with some of his Dixie colleagues in the Senate

Those who favor junking the agency got a helping hand however from former president Hebert Hoover It was during his administration in 1932 that Congress created the R F C to help fight the depression

Mr Hoover wrote Senator Byrd (D) of Virginia who is for abolition, that two years ago he favored wiping out the agency— and do yet

Mr Hoover recalled that the government reorganization study commission he headed recommended that the R F C be put in the Treasury Department with a curb on its lending power in non - emergency periods The R F C now is an independent agency

Mr George said the R F C must be preserved as something for small and distressed businesses to tie to in this critical period'

Mr Hickenlooper too said some small firms undoubtedly are deserving of government help But he said it should not be extended through the R F C any longer

Corn Acreage Must Be Hiked

Defense Program To Require Big Boost

Columbiana County farmers will have to increase their corn acreage 8 per cent over last year to help meet the defense programs national call for 92 million acres in corn

That statement by Clifford F Shaw chairman of the Columbiana County Production & Marketing Committee reflects the concern of agricultural mobilizers who see a serious situation ahead unless the weatherman co-operates

Mr Shaw said at least 20 per cent of the county's 1950 corn crop was lost because of late maturity and inclement weather That situation prevailed throughout Ohio Mr Shaw said and necessitated using about 7 million of the 10 million bushels of corn stored by the Commodity Credit Corp in Ohio

Dale C Williams, chairman of the Ohio Agricultural Mobilization Committee said Ohio farmers will have to meet their corn and soybean guides if the nation is to secure the food and feed supplies needed for the defense program

Increasing the county's corn acreage 8 per cent will not be too difficult Mr Shaw feels if weather is normal for planting growing and harvesting

Mr Williams advanced this idea—"On farms where the wheat has been killed by the severe winter, the nation's grain and oil supply can be helped if corn and soybeans are seeded on wheatland instead of seeding oats or spring barley as replacement crops"

Writer Picks Red Sox To Win American League Pennant

Puts Yankees Second, Indians In Third Place

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—No Red Sox. No Red Sox. No Red Sox. Not even if they get Joe DiMaggio, Bob Lemon and Vic Raschi. You swore off for keeps last September.

But that was seven months ago. With opening day a week off, the old craving returns. Giving up the Red Sox is tougher than cutting off cigarettes. That power. That new pitching. That Fenway park. How can they lose?

The American League shapes up like a three-club race with Boston, New York and Cleveland in the thick of it. Detroit, off to a bad Spring start, does not impress as a pennant contender.

Back of the first four, it's a grab bag, like two separate leagues with Washington, Chicago, St. Louis and Philadelphia in the second.

Here's the way it looks from here:

1.—Boston.
2.—New York.
3.—Cleveland.
4.—Detroit.
5.—Washington.
6.—Chicago.
7.—St. Louis.
8.—Philadelphia.

Boston figures the most improved club with the addition of Lou Boudreau, Bill Wight and Ray Scarborough, three front-line regulars. The Sox gave up a good right fielder, a veteran pitcher and a rookie.

Boudreau is the "take charge guy" the Sox lacked. Signed as a utility man, the ex-Cleveland manager elbowed into the shortstop job when Vern Stephens was injured. On Stephens return he moved to third base, benching Johnny Pesky.

The inspirational value of Boudreau could be what the satisfied, well-paid Sox need most. Lack of driving will to win has been conspicuous in their failures.

With Boudreau's bat aimed at the convenient left field wall, winning at Fenway Park should be easier than ever. They won 55 of 77 at home last season.

Beating the Yankees has been Boston's main problem. Their front line pitching has not been good enough to stop Joe DiMaggio and Hank Bauer, in particular. Addition of Wight and Scarborough figure to help plenty. Wight, an ex-Yank, pitched fine ball against them for Chicago. Scarborough, sharp this spring, pitches consistently good ball although his lifetime record is only 3-10 against New York.

OSU Splashers Finish 2nd As Yale Wins

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, O., April 9 (AP)—Mike Peppe, Ohio State's dapper swim coach, wondered today just what you have to do to win the National AAU Indoor swimming crown.

Mike's Bucks, who have won three times and haven't been worse than second in the last seven meets, rolled up 58 points in the week end event in their own pool.

The 58, up to Saturday night, had been exceeded only by the 64 points piled up by Ohio when it won in 1947. The same 58 would have won 25 of the 26 previous AAU championships.

But, despite that showing, Ohio finished 75 points back of the New Haven swim club's star-studded 22-man squad which piled up 133—more than twice as many as any team has ever amassed.

"We had two firsts, three seconds, three thirds, two fourths, a fifth and three sixth places. That's good enough to win any meet, but we weren't even close. I never saw anything like it."

The answer was easy. The New Havens, a conglomeration of Yale frosh, grads and varsity, won five events and then added five seconds, five thirds, seven fourths, five fifths and a lone sixth for what Peppe termed their "unholy total".

John Marshall, the 21-year-old free-styler from Australia, duplicated his NCAA wins as he repeated as AAU champion in the 1500-meter and 220 and 440-yard events. New Haven also triumphed in both relays

Some observers pointed out that the higher totals might be traced to the addition of two events to the program—the 100-yard backstroke. But Ohio picked up 11 points in the two events while New Haven was getting 13.

Marshall was the only triple winner, and the only 1950 champion able to retain his laurels. Skippy Browning of Texas copied his NCAA feat of winning both diving events, the one meter and the three-meter, and Jack Taylor of Ohio State took both backstroke competitions.

Foreign talent accounted for victories in five of the 11 individual events. Marshall, from Melbourne, won the three freestyles; John Davies of Michigan, also from Australia, took the 220-yard breast stroke and finished second in the 100; and Dick Cleveland, Ohio State's freshman from Hawaii, set a new record of 50 seconds flat in annexing the 100-yard free-style.

Wins Women's Bowling

CINCINNATI, April 9 (AP)—Marge Dardeen of Cincinnati won the singles crown with a high series of 663 in the Ohio State Women's Bowling Tournament which ended yesterday.

166 Crack Amateurs Begin Punching In AAU

BOSTON, April 9 (AP)—Hard-punching 166 of the national top-notch amateurs, plus teams from Hawaii and Canada, start three days of battling today for eight prized National A.A.U. boxing crowns.

The youngster will be throwing leather in quest of titles which can lead to professional careers that beckoned past winners such as Joe Louis, Light Heavyweight Champion Joey Maxim and the outstanding heavyweight prospect, Rex Layne.

Roll Record Doubles

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 9 (AP)—William McGeorge and J. Faltisco of Kent, O., turned in the highest doubles score ever rolled at a State Eagles Bowling Tournament yesterday. Their 1,426 put them in first place. There were no other tournament standings changes.

Famechon Won't Be Too Cocky Tuesday In Meeting Burgin

CINCINNATI, April 9 (AP)—Ray Famechon, not the over-confident young man he once was, returned to Cincinnati last night to see whether Eddie Burgin knew what he was doing when he humbled Europe's featherweight king last month.

Famechon, who will tangle with the local Negro in a rematch at the Garden tomorrow, was a very surprised fighter on his last trip here. He had expected to push Burgin around in a "warm-up fight" for greater things.

But Burgin, a slim youngster who carries a dreamland wallop in either glove, wasn't having any. He had been grilled as to the French fancy-Dan's come-in, pushing ways and beat the amazed Famechon to the floor shortly after the opening bell. Famechon got up, but he knew right then that two- and four-round training workouts hadn't been near enough.

Came the second round and bedlam.

Famechon, after kissing the canvas a second time, suddenly turned and walked over to the referee, his arms dangling.

Referee Tony Warndorf stopped the fight. He said Famechon was on "Queer Street", didn't know what he was doing, and quit.

Famechon and his voluble manager, Marcel Coletta, afterwards insisted in excited French that the European hadn't intended to call it a day at all—he just couldn't spik English so good and didn't know what the ref was asking him.

After Coletta got off the airplane with Famechon yesterday, he made the grim statement, "it is absolutely necessary that we win this fight. Famechon is in shape to win it".

Burgin and his handlers have a big stake riding, too, however. Promoter Sam Becker says if Burgin does it again, he has a wonderful chance to box Sandy Saddler for the featherweight championship.

And for a youngster with less than six pro fights under his belt, that is an attraction indeed.

FBI Director Blames Codes For 'Fixing'

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover blames the "hypocrisy and sham" of college athletic codes for inspiring basketball game fixing.

He thinks laxity by college officials has contributed to some "very atrocious crimes" committed by students.

These were views Hoover disclosed to a Senate appropriations subcommittee in a series of closed meetings last month. His testimony was made available to the Associated Press.

The Senate crime investigating committee, headed by Senator Kefauver (D) of Tennessee, now is writing a report expected to deal in part with organized gambling's invasion of the field of betting on basketball games, particularly those in Madison Square Garden.

The two Republican members of the committee, Senators Tobey of New Hampshire and Wiley of Wisconsin, renewed demands over the week end that the group's life be extended until next Jan. 15 so it can continue its dramatic hearings.

Sidney Brodson of Milwaukee, self-styled professional bettor, told the Kefauver committee he knew there was something wrong with results long before college players were arrested for "fixing" games.

Hoover said he had "great condemnation" of the players involved, but that the blame can't be put entirely upon them.

"I think they should be condemned but blame also rests on others," the FBI chieftain said. "Here comes a criminal group that offers $1,000 to players to lose a game or to arrange certain points in the game.

"The university, at the same time, is under a so-called ethical control code not to pay players to play on teams. Yet it is well known that there are all kinds of ways of getting around that alleged code.

"They give the students automobiles. They get them positions but they do not have to do any work to draw their salary. Many of them work in the summer allegedly as bus boys and porters in hotels, but all they do is play basketball at night. It is a hypocrisy and a sham."

Hoover said college students are perpetrating entirely too many crimes of violent character.

"In the name of victory they will go out and consumate very atrocious crimes," he said. "Certain fraternity initiations are sadistic. These activities are the result of lack of control at the college level."

Again Hoover said the blame can't be put entirely on the young men involved.

"The blame must be shared by the universities which have commercialized athletics in order to get money to enlarge their college facilities," he said. "Athletics in a university have a very necessary and desirable place, but they should not be stressed to the point where it takes precedence over everything else."

Williams And Pruden End Training For Bout

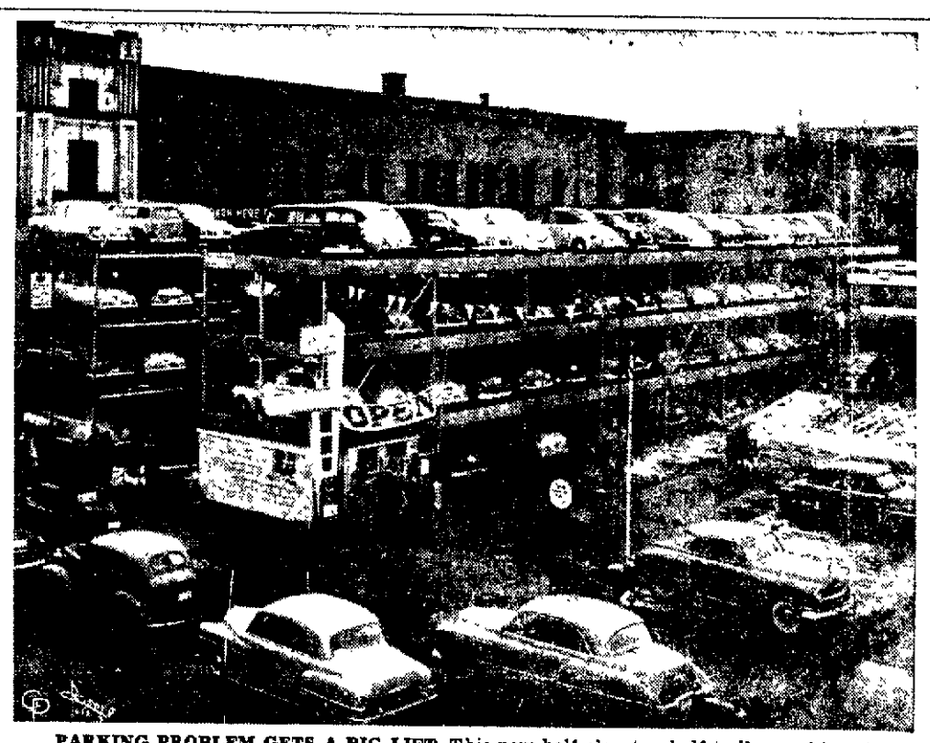
CHICAGO, April 9 (AP)—Lightweight Champion Ike Williams and Fitzie Pruden, Toronto, Canada, welterweight, wind up training chores today for their Chicago Stadium bout Wednesday night.

Ike will be making his first Chicago appearance since he broke the jaw of Johnny Bratton, current NBA welterweight champion, in January, 1950.

Failing to abide by an NBA edict to defend his lightweight honors by March 31, Williams may be forced to give up his crown. The NBA is polling its executive committee on a decision.

Pruden, a sharp-punching 23-year-old, holds victories over such ranking fighters as Tony Janiro, Beau Jack, Ray Certer and John La Brol. He is rated sixth by the NBA among the nation's welterweights.

Don Maurey and Joe Lemyre, varsity wrestlers at Penn State, both have brothers on the freshman mat team.



PARKING PROBLEM GETS A BIG LIFT. This new half elevator, half trolley parking structure in Spokane (Wash.) is reported to be the first of its kind in use. You drive your car onto a track in the corridor (entrance left) which runs through middle. The electric parker runs the car down the track, elevates it to desired level and deposits the car in the proper empty slot.

Ben Hogan, In 10th Try, Finally Captures Masters Tourney With 280

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 9 (AP)—Nine times Ben Hogan came out of Ft. Worth, Texas, to shoot for a Masters crown and like no other major professional golf title, the pesky thing kept avoiding him.

The little Texan who thinks golf is a game to play, not something to talk about, finally came through in his 10th attempt. Ben spotted par eight strokes on four trips around the par 36-36—72 Augusta National course to win his first prestige-loaded Masters with 280.

If Ben wanted to retire right now from golf—something he has no intention of doing—he could check through his collection of titles and find not one of major importance missing.

Hogan and Robert (Skee) Riegel, who finished second with a fine 282, were all alone at the head of the class. Hogan with a final round 68 whipped third place finishers Lloyd Mangrum and Lew Worsham by six strokes and Riegel, their junior in experience and publicity, spanked them by four..

Mangrum and Worsham, both former National Open champions, had 286's to complete the list of golfers good enough to beat par. Dave Douglas shot an even par 288.

Twenty five months ago the sports world wondered about the future of Ben Hogan. But Ben lived through the injuries and broken bones his body suffered in west Texas in 1949 when his automobile and a bus collided.

He began his comeback by tying Sam Snead in the Los Angeles Open of 1950. Sam won the playoff.

Last summer Ben put his comeback in the past tense when he won the National Open title. His victory in the 15th Masters at 39 years of age merely confirmed the fact that when Hogan is in a major tournament field the best thing to do is to pick him to win.

After his victory on the vicious 6,900-yard National, Ben quietly and humbly said, "I would be satisfied if I never won another tournament. I've certainly had more than my share."

Hogan played the final round on the soaked but sunny National "safe".

"I played it safe," Ben said, "not the way I like to play. The only way to win was to play it safe."

His strategy was almost flawless. He didn't go over par on a hole and won birdies four times.

Lawson Little finished with 289, including a final round 72, for sixth and Jim Ferrier, the pre-tournament pick to win, was seventh with 290—72 of those strokes coming on the final tour.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 9 (AP)—Final Ohio scores in the Masters Golf Tournament at the par 36-36—72 Augusta National course included:

Herman Keiser, Lima, 77-73-79-74—303

X-Dow Finsterwald, Athens, 76-81-75-81—313

Harold Paddock Jr., Cleveland, 75-78-80-79—312

X—Frank Stranahan, Toledo, 74-74-74-79—301

Denny Shute, Akron, 79-76-79-74—308

Toney Penna, Cincinnati, withdrew.

Nuzum To Be Arraigned Today In Murder Case

LAS CRUCES, N. M., April 9 (AP)—Husky Jerry Nuzum, 27, professional halfback with the Pittsburgh Steelers, will be arraigned today on a charge of murder.

The arraignment comes just a week short of two years after finding of the body of Ovida (Cricket) Coogler, 18, partially buried in the sandhills south of town. Nuzum was investigated in her death then, and District Attorney T. K. Campbell said he had "definitely been cleared of in any way being at fault (and) is completely exonerated".

Thursday, Nuzum was arrested in Pittsburgh by two state patrolmen. State Police Chief Joe Roach said new evidence had been introduced.

Last night, on his arrival from Pittsburgh, Nuzum said, "I know that time will tell that I am innocent".

Win Pin Tourney

DAYTON, O., April 9 (AP)—Sky-Lockson Tailors of Youngstown won the five-man title in the National B'nai B'rith Bowling Tournament by rolling 3,069 on the final week end. Hy Goldberg of Cincinnati, who rolled 709 last week end, took the singles title.

Sports Mirror

Today a Year Ago—Jimmy Demaret posted a 69 on the final round to win his third Masters Golf Tournament in Augusta, Ga., with a score of 283.

Five Years Ago—Assault won the Experimental Handicap by four lengths before a crowd of 30,936 at Jamaica, N. Y.

Ten Years Ago—Dorothy Kirby won the fifth annual Women's Titleholders Golf Tourney at Augusta, Ga., by posting a score of 224.

Twenty Years Ago—The Chicago Black Hawks defeated the Montreal Canadiens, 3-2, in three overtime periods to take a 2-1 lead in the final series of the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs.

Truman Seeks Inflation Curb

Holds First Meeting With Advisory Board

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—President Truman called top industry, labor and farm leaders to the White House today to help him map out a more effective inflation control system.

That is understood to be the main point Mr. Truman wants to discuss at his first meeting at 3:30 p. m. with the newly-named mobilization advisory board.

The 17-member board was selected by the President last Friday. Headed by Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson, it has four other members each from labor, industry, agriculture and the public.

Mr. Truman reportedly is seeking to get the group agreed, or as nearly agreed as possible, on changes needed in the Defense Production Act to do a better job in smothering inflation.

That present controls have fallen short, so far anyway, was officially pronounced last week by Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, who said in a radio address that there is "no slightest evidence anywhere that inflation is in general retreat". On the other hand, Price Director Michael V. DiSalle said last night that there have been "very definite signs of a levelling off" of prices.

Peron's Committee To Report On La Prensa

BUENOS AIRES, April 9 (AP)—Congressmen of President Juan Peron's majority Peronista party will meet this afternoon to set a date for a session to hear a report from the congressional committee investigating the muzzled independent newspaper La Prensa.

Reports circulated that President Peron may call the special session of congress later in the week.

The committee, which seized the newspaper March 20 under a mandate from Congress, has been investigating the publication's business affairs and its relations with foreign companies.

La Prensa has been closed two and a half months by union boycotts, a strike and the congressional intervention.

Meanwhile, the national committee of the opposition Radical party adopted a resolution charging that La Prensa was "despoiled through violation of fundamental, juridical, institutional and democratic principles which constitutes a grave attack on the freedom of the press".

Four Drown At Dayton In Car's River Plunge

DAYTON, April 9 (AP)—Two women and two men drowned yesterday when an automobile rolled down a steep levee into Mad River.

They were identified tentatively as Chester Walls, 38, of Dayton; Mrs. Estella Allen, 45, of Dayton; Albert Ogan of Dayton, formerly of Columbus, and Mrs. Alice McCoy of Columbus, daughter of Mr. Ogan.

The automobile plunged into 20 feet of water. The bodies were recovered five hours later.

Tuesday night at 8 at Bunker Hill School, Thursday night at 8 at the East Rochester School, and next Monday night at 8 at the Bayard School.

A general meeting with the other districts will be held April 19.

3 Killed, 3 Injured By Abandoned B-25

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—A twin-engine bomber, crippled and abandoned by its crew, crashed into a suburban cottage yesterday and killed two little girls and their uncle.

The children's father, mother and aunt were injured.

Dead are Irvin Guyer of Cranford, N. J., Kay Snyder, 7, and Rene Denise Snyder, two months.

The injured are Mrs. Guyer and Master Sergeant and Mrs. Samuel Snyder.

The B-25 bomber's three crewmen had parachuted to safety after a four-hour struggle with the crippled plane. They said they headed it toward the Chesapeake Bay before leaping out.

Volunteer firemen rescued the Snyders and Mrs. Guyer. Flames and collapsing walls defeated efforts to free Mr. Guyer from wreckage which pinned him from the waist down.

Ohio Continues Study Of Reds

Busy Week Begins For Legislature

COLUMBUS, April 9 (AP)—What is the Communist problem in Ohio and what should the legislature do about it?

A joint Senate-House committee today held its second public hearing on the subject and heard more civic leaders express their opinions

The inquiry group, set up by the legislature to find out where Ohio's laws are lacking, is to report by May 10 whether the state should have a permanent anti-subversives commission. Until last Thursday it had held all its groundwork sessions in secret.

The public hearing, together with another session of the special Senate committee investigating practices and operations of the state Civil Service Commission, ushered in a busy legislative week.

As a rule the Senate and House hold morning sessions on Thursday, then adjourn for the week end. But since next Monday is opening day for the Cincinnati Reds' baseball club, no sessions will be held that day. So both houses will hold Thursday afternoon sessions this week. The House also plans a Friday morning session.

The civil service investigation committee convened at the same hour as the anti-subversives group It is expected to hear the end of testimony by Commissioner Gertrude Jones. She is to be followed to the stand by Frank J. Collopy, former administrator of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

Civil service probers are looking into complaints of "unfairness, discrimination and delay" in the commission's operations.

900 Excursionists Stop In Lisbon On Erie's Anniversary

LISBON, April 9 (Special) — The village was deluged with April showers and 900 excursionists Sunday when a special anniversary train of the Erie Railroad laid over for an hour at the southern terminal of its trip from Kent.

The 13-car train stopped at the Log Town crossing on the way to Lisbon to pick up Mrs Alice Burnett, 97, who can recall the first passenger train to pull into Lisbon in 1870.

The army of rail fans included 872 who paid for tickets and 45 newspapermen and photographers on passes. The enthusiasts came from as far away as New York and Buffalo in the East to Detroit in the West.

The excursion was sponsored by the Midwest Chapter of the National Railway Historical Society to mark the Erie Railroad's 100th anniversary.

U.S., Britain Open Oil Talks

Seek Common Policy In Iranian Dispute

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The United States and Great Britain today opened talks designed to produce a common Anglo-American policy for meeting the Iranian oil crisis.

Assistant Secretary of State George McGhee is expected to urge the British government, through Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks, to accept the nationalization of Iranian oil and concentrate on working out a plan for operating the industry under Iranian control.

Britain, however, is understood to oppose the nationalization move approved by the Iranian majlis (parliament) and reportedly is anxious to block it.

This apparent division of views probably will be the major issue in the talks at the State Department.

(The Iranian government, meanwhile, rejected Britain's protest against nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., but Premier Hussein Ala cautiously made no commitment to parliament on the explosive question.

(The new premier made public, after his first appearance before the lower house, a carefully-worded note in which he said the British government has no right to intervene in dealings between Iran and a business concern.)

Albania Claims 'Violations' By Italy, Greece

Hoxha Rule Said To Have Smashed Plot By Anti-Reds

LONDON, April 9 (AP)—Jittery Albania protested today against asserted violations by air, sea and land of its territories by Italy and Greece.

Accounts of the protest published by the Soviet news agency Tass coincided with reports from various neighboring countries that the Soviet satellite government on the Adriatic had thwarted a planned uprising by 3,000 anti-Communist Albanians, Turks, Greeks and Yugoslavs against the regime of Red Premier Enver Hoxha.

Tass, however, made no mention of any such plot.

The Russian agency said Albania lodged its protest against Greece with the United Nations secretariat, charging 18 violations between March 1 and March 28.

It accused Greek soldiers of firing five machine gun rounds at Albanian frontier guards near Sivani March 1, said a Greek plane dropped propaganda leaflets on Albania March 25 and declared a Greek ship entered Albanian territorial waters in the area of the Khimara plain March 20.

At the same time the foreign ministry sent a note to Italy "resolutely protesting" eight flights across its frontier by Italian planes between Feb. 22 and March 31.

Tass reported last night that Albania, in a protest to the Yugoslav government, accused it of nine "frontier provocations", which the Albanians charged were aimed at touching off World War III.

Reports of the attempted uprising varied and the "invasion" itself lacked confirmation from non-Communist Balkan groups.

LEADERS 34 YEARS AFTER 1917. Still battling for freedom and democracy 34 years after America entered World War I, on April 6, 1917, many who were in the armed service then are today carrying on the same crusade. One of their vanguard is Dwight D. Eisenhower (top), as a World War I lieutenant colonel of infantry, now Commander of SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe). Another veteran is Douglas MacArthur (bottom), as a brigadier general in command of the 84th Brigade of the 42nd (Rainbow) Division in France and now supreme commander of the United Nations forces.

Take Part In Politics, Ohio Printers Urged

PORTSMOUTH, O., April 9 (AP) — Delegates to the 87th semi-annual meeting of the Ohio Typographical Conference yesterday urged Ohio printers to take a more active part in political affairs.

The conference ended its two-day meeting last night. It heard its president, John W. Bradford of Dayton, criticize what he called "business domination" of the national defense mobilization program.

Mr. Bradford also urged opposition to a bill, now in the state legislature, that would ban strikes by utility workers

The conference is made up of Ohio printer locals of the A.F.L. International Typographical Union.

'Read Newspapers,' School Urges Students

DELAWARE, O., April 9 (AP) — Ohio Wesleyan University wants its students to read newspapers and magazines thoroughly and more often.

Today, mimeographed sheets containing summaries of local, national and international news were circulated to dormitories, fraternity and sorority houses and student meeting places.

Professors have been asked to point out how current events fit in with subjects they teach.

The sheets will be circulated Mondays through Friday and will give names and dates of publications where further details can be found.

Train Hurts 4 In Car

NEWARK, O., April 9 — A train-automobile accident sent four Fairfield county residents to the hospital Sunday. Rex Hartman, 43, and his wife, Dorothy, 34, were treated and released after a Pennsylvania passenger train hit their car one mile east of Newark. James C. Converse, 14, his stepson, and Robert Walters, 16, both of Sugar Grove, remained in the hospital. The Hartmans are from near Lancaster. He is a Boys Industrial School officer.

Group Studies Trampling Of Little Fellows

Celler Thinks Big Business Dominates Defense Agencies

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 9 (AP)—Congress plans to investigate whether the little businessman is being trampled in the mobilization crush.

Representative Celler (D) of New York, in announcing plans for the inquiry here yesterday, suggested the nation's defense agencies are being advised by committees loaded in favor of big business.

He said some members of these committees, serving without pay, are "merely sales managers" for their companies.

Mr. Celler, chairman of the House judiciary committee, disclosed plans for the inquiry at the final session of the conference on economic mobilization. He said it will "start shortly".

His announcement was one of the few concrete developments of the three-day conference, at which University of Chicago economists were hosts to government officials, lawyers, businessmen, labor spokesmen and colleagues from other universities.

The sessions failed to produce what their sponsors had sought, agreement on federal anti-inflation policy.

Most of the dozens of discussions involved several suggestions for preventing the value of the dollar from shrinking, but these points apparently had strongest support:

▶Higher taxes.

▶Tightening by the government of money and credit supply.

▶Use of direct controls like those on prices and wages where they are necessary, with provisions for easy lifting of such controls later.

Many officials and economists who addressed the 70 delegates told the conference there is a trend toward greater domination of industry by a relatively few large corporations.

Mr. Celler referred to them as "oligopolies" and said the congressional investigation also will seek to learn whether they have been promoted by defense orders and government-aided plant expansion in the aluminum, copper, tin and newsprint industries.

He said small business has been getting a smaller share of military orders—from 23.8 per cent in the first half of 1950 to 16.6 per cent last January.

One For The Book

LOS ANGELES, April 9 (INS) —Dr. Vernon Bronson Twitchell, Ph D., Harvard graduate and author of the book Living Without Liquor, was jailed in Los Angeles last night on a charge of drunkenness. Arresting officers said they found Dr. Twitchell lying on a lawn near his home in the fashionable Wilshire district.

Net income of U.S. farmers in 1950 was about 13 billion dollars —27 per cent below the postwar peak in 1947.

C.E. Heads Make Convention Plans

Thirty officers and other leaders of the Ohio Christian Endeavor Union met in East Liverpool over the week end to make arrangements for the state convention scheduled for July 9-15 in Michigan.

The Ohio sessions will be held with the International conclave at Grand Rapids.

The local executive sessions were held Friday night and Saturday morning and afternoon in the First Church of Christ.

Members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the host church served refreshments Friday night. Each guest was presented with a decorated piece of souvenir pottery. Robert Hildreth of Columbus, state president, presided.

The visitors were housed in the homes of C. E. members of the Church of Christ and the Calvary Methodist Church.

President Warns Americas Again Of Red Menace

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) —President Truman has warned the 21 American republics that international communism "seeks to crush and undermine and finally destroy the independence of the Americas and to impose an alien rule on our lands".

"We can't let that happen here," Mr. Truman said Saturday night at a dinner party given in his honor by the Latin-American foreign ministers. He praised the ministers for the work they had completed during the two-week inter-American conference.

The conference ended Saturday with the signing of some 30 resolutions calling for stronger national military forces, special troop units for hemisphere defense and United Nations service, co-ordinated western economics for defense production and financial stability and improved safeguards against subversive activities.

Missing Ohio Divorcee 'Silent' On Her Return

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, O, April 9 (AP) — Sheriff Orland Hays expects Ohio's missing divorcee to show up today for the keys to the house and car she left behind when she dropped out of sight nearly four months ago.

Mrs. Minerva Braddock flew in from Dallas, Tex, late Saturday night and expressed surprise at all the concern felt for her disappearance.

She refused to say why she suddenly left a $25,000 home without telling anyone, why she abandoned a 1949 automobile on a Cleveland street or why she never sent Christmas presents that were already wrapped.
